USUAL KICK FROM DOVER ARRIVES AS PER SCHEDULE

The Portsmouth High School Team Charged With Being "Yellow" and "Fat Headed" By Dover Paper.

The Portsmouth High School baseball team is so far above the class of the local institution after their tie game with Manchester High that they cannot consider a game with the local high school team according to information received from Manager Nelson of the local aggregation. Of all the transacts which have ever been investigated for monopolizing there is none which looks so ridiculous as this accumulation of conceit on the part of the sea shore citizens.

If the local high school team had sought games with a club which had an enviable reputation and had been cleaning up everything along the line and acquiring a prestige there might be some logic in their refusal to meet the local team, and they might well contend that they could procure more evenly matched contenders but when this team from Portsmouth models an artistic little pedestal and climbs upon it to pose as considerably above the high school teams in the surrounding cities they are either displaying a white flag with a number of large yellow cross bars, which signify the principal color of their fighting element, or they are so conceited that they do not realize the inconsistency of their attitude.

The whole sum and substance of the issue can be condensed in these words; namely, "they are quitters" according to the information from Manager Nelson. He claims that he wrote to Portsmouth trying to arrange a game and as yet the manager of the latter team has even failed to answer the communication. Why was he afraid to drop even a line and show a courtesy that would cost him but two cents and a few moments of his valuable time? Was he afraid the Democrat might take pleasure in making an exhibit of the cold feet demonstrated by the reply?

Manager Nelson however, refused to let him get away as easy as that, so he utilized the telephone in an effort to arrange a game for either Fast day morning or afternoon and was advised that the team had arranged to play another team on that date and one game was sufficient. Nelson then suggested that the Dover team would be at liberty during several Wednesday afternoons before the close of the season and asked if it would be possible to arrange a game for some Wednesday, and also assured the manager of the Strawberry Bank team that Dover was not in the least annoyed over the possible treatment they might experience while playing the game as a result of the spectators' attitude as has been true before this date when a high school team visited Portsmouth to engage in athletic activities.

The manager of the Portsmouth team when asked if he would give Dover a Wednesday game replied, "I don't know," and he has not found out yet. After the game with Manchester, a resident of this city was in conversation with an individual prominent in the welfare of the Portsmouth team and when a game was suggested with Dover he said, "Oh that bunch is not fast enough for us. Look what we did with Manchester."

If the Portsmouth team wants a reputation we suggest that they suspend their schedule as it is and take their majority of wins so far this year as their inflated domes will get some perforation if they play the locals this year. Dover is ready at any time to meet them and in event that they fail to grant a game to the locals, the latter will rightly assume that Portsmouth is the aggregation with the chilled suits.—Dover Democrat.

We aren't in a position to know the cause of the controversy but the facts are borne out, that no matter what the sport, Dover comes to the front with a kick.

FLEET AND LAND TROOPS POUNDING AT THE TURKS

Allied Forces Meeting Stiff Resistance at the Dardanelles, But Are Making Steady Gains on Both Asiatic and European Sides

COURT ALLOWS THE WILL

Local People Among the Beneficiaries.

The will of the late Mrs. Margaret B. McAllister of Portland which involved an estate of $150,000, divided among 31 beneficiaries, among whom are Mr. and Mrs. W. W. McIntire and two daughters Marion and Helen of this city, was allowed by Judge Donohue in the probate court at Portland on Thursday.

The contestants were Charles E., Alice S., Catherine and Margaret Bartlett, children of the late F. R. Bartlett of Somersworth, a half brother to Mrs. McAllister. They were not mentioned in the will, thus the fight to prevent admission to probate.

(Special to The Herald)

Constantinople, via Berlin and Amsterdam, April 30.—Forty of the allied battleships and cruisers bombarded Fort Sed-el-Bahc on the Dardanelles while for two days and one night the Turkish troops on the Gallipoli peninsula have resisted the attempted advances of the British troops landed on the shores. This information was given out today by the war office. Fighting is still in progress on the Asiatic side at Kum Kelch, where the Turkish troops are attacking the great French fortress with the bayonet.

London, April 30.—Although the cost in human lives has been fearful the Anglo-French land forces in the Dardanelles sphere of operations are progressing steadily. The Turkish troops are being driven before the slow advance of the British forces operating on the Gallipoli peninsula, while the French troops fighting under General D'Amadon on the mainland of Asia Minor, are reported to have advanced steadily, gaining from three miles in some places to 10 miles in others. The French have captured more than 10,000 Turkish soldiers in the past few days' battle.

NINTH ZEPPELIN RAID MADE OVER ENGLAND (Special to The Herald)

London, April 30.—The total destruction of seven buildings and severe damage to five others is the total damage done by the Germans in the latest aerial raid over England early today. This bombardment was the ninth attack and although no loss of life resulted the assault by the airships has served to deepen the terror of the British people in Suffolk, which appears to be the favorite hunting ground of the Zeppelins.

GERMAN ASSAULTS AT VPRES FAIL (Special to The Herald)

London, April 30.—After a lull in the fighting the fresh reinforcements brought up by the Germans resumed their attack along the Ypres canal last night without gaining any favorable result, according to official reports received here today. The attack was preceded by a heavy bombardment of the Allies' position from the Germans' 17-inch guns and small artillery in an attempt to destroy the trenches occupied by the allied troops all along the battle front.

For several hours shells rained on the Anglo-French troops' positions and then the Kaiser's infantry began their assault. The charge was detected by the search lights, placed behind the allies' lines, in time to drive the furious charges back with fearful losses to the Germans.

SUBMARINES SINK TWO BRITISH STEAMERS (Special to The Herald)

London, April 30.—German submarines operating at widely separated points, have claimed two more British vessels as their victims. The collier Mobile was torpedoed on Thursday off Leeds Island, one of the Hebrides, off the west coast of Scotland, while the trawler Jillydale was sunk in the North Sea, off the mouth of the Tyne, Thursday afternoon.

The men comprising the crew of the trawler were saved. The sailors of the Mobile were given ten minutes to leave the collier. They took to small boats and then the submarine sank the Mobile. Several torpedoes were fired before the ship went down.

The Mobile, which was a new ship, left Derry with a cargo of coal last Saturday, and was intercepted 40 miles west of Lewis. From the point where she sank the crew made their way in small boats to Carlaway, and then to Stornoway.

GERMAN SUPPLY SHIP RECAPTURED BY BRITISH (Special to The Herald)

London, April 30.—The German supply ship Macedonia, which recently escaped from Las Palma, Canary Islands, has been recaptured, according to an announcement made here today. The Macedonia escaped from Las Palma on March 15. A Madrid dispatch three days later announced its recapture, but this proved erroneous. The Macedonia belonged to the Hamburg-American line. She sailed from New Orleans, August 29, 1914, and was not heard from again until she was intercepted at Las Palma. When she escaped from that port it was reported that she was on her way to South America with supplies for the German raiders in south Atlantic waters, and British warships were sent in pursuit of her.

The Swastika Club met on Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Fred G. Bunker of Pleasant street. In the evening the members and their husbands were very pleasantly entertained at supper by the hostess, following which music and a social evening were enjoyed.

The farmers were very glad to see the rain of this morning, as it was badly needed.

The baseball schedule of the York High school includes two games with Trapp Academy, one at York May 19 and another at Kittery June 2. A game is also scheduled with the Atlantic Shore railway employees at York May 12.

During the summer season Sugrue's automobile will meet all trains on the York Beach road, and call for and deliver passengers to all parts of the city. This is a seven passenger Peerless car, and may be had for rent by the day, week, or hour. Telephone 244-W.

In Everybody's Magazine for the current issue is a picture of a section of the Maine State highway in Kittery. Mention of Kittery in a magazine like Everybody's, even though it is in connection with an advertisement, is worth more than the majority of people realize. If the town had to pay for it it would cost more than you have any idea of. Thousands of people will read the ad, and thousands will remember that through this town goes the macadam road that means delightful riding for automobiles. Whenever any of the readers of Everybody's Magazine come anywhere in this vicinity they will take a trip through the town, because they know they will enjoy the excellent roads here. This will the town begin to get back some of the money paid out in helping to make the highways as good as they are.

TIGERS HAVE WONDERFUL OUTFIELD IN COBB, CRAWFORD AND VEACH AND A STERLING TRIO OF SWATERS

COBB CRAWFORD VEACH

Detroit, April 30.—There is joy in the heart of Hughie Jennings and a bright smile enlightens his countenance these bright beautiful spring mornings. And Hughie has an excellent reason for his happiness, for didn't they say that Hughie hadn't a chance to show in the pennant race, and did they not extend to him their heartfelt sympathy because of the injury and incapacitation of several of his stars? The answer to the above is they did, and Hughie really believed some of it for a time. He actually thought his team did not stand a chance with such wonderfully planned machines as the Red Sox and the White Sox, but Hughie reckoned without his outfield. The Tigers outfield, he it known, is composed of Cobb, Crawford and Veach, three more or less famous pastimers who have made for themselves quite a reputation both in the field and batting end of the game, and the way they have started this season indicates that their well earned fame is in no immediate danger of being lost to them. The three are pounding the pill for an aggregate average of approximately 400 which is some batting figure at any stage of the game. Hitting the ball timely and often is their motto, and they are causing opposing pitchers no end of woe in adhering strictly to that policy. Veach is not so well known as his two teammates, but he seems to have acquired some of their talents through long association. The combination looks to be about the best outfield extant just at present.

Scully, who has already taken occupancy of her home.

Mrs. Percival M. Robinson and family will open their cottage at Otisville Point the first of May.

The "Fraternal Dramatic Club" will soon present their play "Billy Blunderbuss" at Rye Town Hall. They will use entirely new scenery for the production, which bids far to be a great success.

The large building which has been constructed on the state boulevard at Rye Beach opposite Locust Pavilion, by Messrs. Arthur C. Walker and Horton D. Marden is nearly completed. John Berry of North Hampton has charge of the carpenter work and Irving Brown of North Hampton had charge of the masonry.

This building will be open for business about June 15, and will be called the "Rye Beach Inn." Shore dinners, steaks and chops will be a specialty and the management plans to cater largely to automobile parties. Rooms have been furnished in the second story for transients, ice cream, confectionery and cigars will also be on sale at the inn.

The Farragut Hotel is being painted.

Sawyer's House will open about May first.

The residence of Shirley Philbrick of Rye Beach has been improved extensively.

WITH THE SPORTS

New York, April 29.—It begins to look as if the most certain way for a ball player to become a star is for John McGraw to pronounce him not worth his keep.

Cincinnati became famous as a place for fellows to get their real start by being fired, but John of the Giants, has been giving Garry Herrman's outfit a close battle of late.

Johnson had George Chalmers on his roster this spring, but after watching George throughout the spring season John decided George wouldn't do. So he pointed to the gate, and George went on his way—jobless.

George hung around the polo grounds when the Phillies made their visit last week and looked so sorrowful that Pat Moran manager of the Quaker town crowd offered him a job. George accepted.

"McGraw says you ain't any good," said Pat to George. "I think you are. Now you go ahead and show me. The first job you get is against the Giants."

George faced his once-time Giant teammates, beat them 8 to 1 and allowed them only two hits.

Al Demaree might be called exhibit B in this case. McGraw thought so little of Demaree that he traded him to the Phillies along with Milton Stock for Hans Lobert. Demaree's first appearance was against the Giants and he shut them out.

The story concerning Dick Hudolph was printed from one end of the land to the other last year. John once owned Dick but didn't think much of him. So he turned him loose and Dick went badly landed with the Braves and materially assisted in pitching them into the world's championship.

Hank Gowdy could have been a Giant regular, but McGraw couldn't see him. Stallings could and Gowdy today ranks as one of the best fielding backstops in the game and as the greatest slugging catcher in any league.

Charley Hertzog has few equals as a third sacker. But McGraw let him go to Cincinnati. If Hertzog had been kept by McGraw in 1914 a different story might have been written about the world's series, because the weakness at third last at least a half dozen games for the Giants. Of course Hertzog was let go partly for friendship's sake—but should friendship figure in baseball?

McGraw had a chance to grab Edward Trowbridge Collins.

Red Ames was traded by McGraw to Cincinnati for Art Fromme, while Fromme flattered badly.

Heinie Groh was considered of major league calibre by McGraw. He let the mite go to Cincinnati where he quickly developed into one of the best players in the game.

Beals Becker who is fielding in sensational style and hammering the ball to all portions of the lots for the Phillies, is a Giant cast-off. He would look mighty grand in the wobbly Giants' outfield just now.

And these are only a few of the most recent folks that John canned and who did a come-forward, as soon as they happened into another uniform.

The Celebrated Franklin

The nice part about driving a Franklin is that there is not a lot to think about. You can start out on a drive and not wonder whether anything might go wrong.

Large tires in combination with light weight and flexibility makes you feel secure against tire trouble.

Franklin owners average from 8 to 10 thousand miles on a set of tires.

With the Franklin, eternal vigilance is not necessary.

Comfort in an automobile is more than a matter of upholstery. That alone won't keep away road shocks. The type of springs has a lot to do with comfort, yet that is not the only factor.

True, the upholstery in the Franklin is very comfortable. The full-elliptic springs are the easiest riding possible. But there is still another big factor—

The Franklin has a wood chassis frame, very flexible, and absorbing road shocks. The wood frame has been a Franklin principle for fourteen years. Flexibility through and through is the secret of Franklin comfort.

The Franklin is sold on facts. It is a fact that on September 24, 1914, 116 Franklin dealers in 116 different parts of the country ran 100 miles on low gear without stopping the engine—this in 10 hours time.

It is a fact that on May 1, 1914, 94 stock Franklins, running in 94 different parts of the country, averaged 32.8 miles per gallon of gasoline.

It is a fact that records from owners show an average of almost 9,000 miles on a set of tires.

It is a fact which we would be glad to demonstrate, that a Franklin goes farthest in a day with the greatest comfort and at the least expense.

The Franklin is the efficient car.

ITALY HAS AGREEMENT WITH ALLIED NATIONS

Understanding Reached as to Awarding Territory and Will Not Enter War at Present

Rome, Italy, via Paris, April 27.—From persons in close touch with the war situation as it affects Italy, there was obtained today information which indicates that the Government has arrived at an understanding with Great Britain and France concerning the terms upon which Italy will enter the war if she eventually decides to do so. This information, while unofficial, is gathered from men who are close to the situation. The agreement is described as follows:

First—A provision for concerted military action. Italy will refrain from hostilities during the present stage of desultory French warfare, which would enable Germany and Austria to concentrate a large part of their forces against her. She will time her blow to synchronize with a general effort by all the opponents of the central Empires now in the field.

Awarding of Territory.—A member of the Government, on the other hand, when asked whether any agreement had been reached with the central empires made the significant reply:

"Nothing has been done and nothing will be done."

Deputy Bassani, a native of Trent, who has been elected to the Chamber from Rome for the last five years, speaking of the patriotic event at Quarto, Sant Elena on May 5, when a monument will be unveiled in memory of Garibaldi's volunteers, in the presence of the King and veterans of the War of Independence, said:

ing the nature and time of her co-operation, boundary readjustments after the war and permanent assistance from the Allies. Italy is said to have received powerful assistance from French diplomacy in reaching the desired understanding on these points.

Foreign Minister Sonnino is credited with the ability to hammer home as forcefully as any other man in the country Italy's determination to insist upon realizing her territorial aspirations. He is said to have resisted, obstinately the diplomatic efforts of Prince von Buelow, the German Ambassador, while insisting that Trent and Trieste are Italian by race and history and must be returned to Italy.

"Challenge to Germany"

Prince von Buelow still is striving to induce Austria to make concessions and prevent Italy from becoming one of the belligerents.

A member of the Government, on the other hand, when asked whether any agreement had been reached with the central empires made the significant reply:

"Nothing has been done and nothing will be done."

Deputy Bassani, a native of Trent, who has been elected to the Chamber from Rome for the last five years, speaking of the patriotic event at Quarto, Sant Elena on May 5, when a monument will be unveiled in memory of Garibaldi's volunteers, in the presence of the King and veterans of the War of Independence, said:

Rheumasalts Brings Quick Relief

Indigestion is beaten! The misery of poor health due to poor digestion is over—for those who know Rheumasalts, the wonderful effervescent drink.

No more sour stomach, gripping pains, umbling of bowels and trembling limbs—nothing but a desire to eat what you want when you want it—without any "kick back."

Your health depends largely upon what you eat and how it is digested. Undigested, fermenting, putrifying food is one of the greatest handicaps your body has. And it is all unnecessary, if you let Rheumasalts help you.

If you are bothered with indigestion, ask your druggist for about five ounces of Rheumasalts; take two teaspoonfuls in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days you will be able to digest your food in a perfect manner.

Rheumasalts is very inexpensive. It does not cause nausea. It is delicious to take and is delightfully effervescent. Rheumasalts is prepared by the famous Rheumabath Company, Minneapolis, Minn. 25c, 50c and $1.00 bottles.

"This event will be an official declaration of war against Austria; it will be a challenge of the Latin to the German world."

THE HERALD NEWS

That the Chew-Choo Club not to be outdone by any other organization at the present time will hold a debate at their next session.

That the dean of the club and his old time antagonist will take as their subject: "Talking and eating at the same time."

That the Veteran Firemen's Association are not discouraged in their endeavors to secure the New England muster for Portsmouth.

That a Market street merchant is still looking for that $35.

That the Big Chiefs at Dover all sat up and took notice when Big Chief Lewis of this city arrived on the scene. Likewise at the feast of car and venison.

That the members of the Eureka Whist Club have not got done talking about that trip to the "Hub."

That the members of the Peoples Baptist church are meeting with good success in their solicitation of funds for their new church.

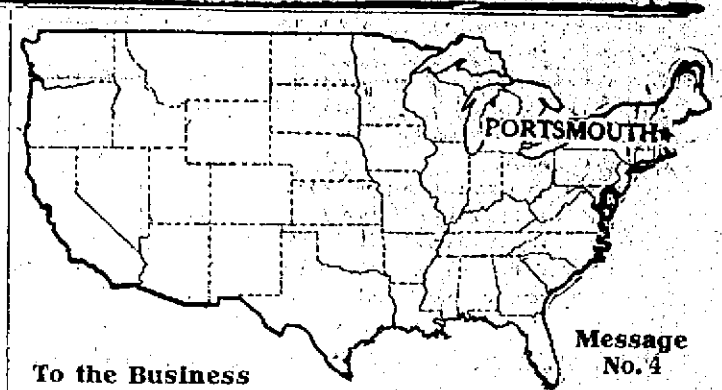

That a local stable keeper purchased a "fast one" at a recent sale and local horsemen are wondering where they are at.

AT THE PORTSMOUTH THEATRE.

The special feature for the afternoon performances on Friday and Saturday at the Portsmouth Theatre is the film version of "Life's Shop Window" adapted from the popular novel and play written by Victoria Cross. "Life's Shop Window" was the talk of two continents when it was first published and this film production is a delicate but faithful visualization of this novel.

It is the story of a clandestine marriage that almost resulted in disaster.

Oysters go out of season for four months after Saturday.

Message No. 4

To the Business Men of Portsmouth

A young doctor, making a start in a small town, decided that to be prosperous he must look prosperous. He bought a new buggy and two good horses. Although he had only a few patients he always kept on the jump, attending to his patients' smallest needs. People began to notice this young doctor driving about town and they called him because he looked busy and prosperous. He got his start—a start that led to a comfortable practice.

A town, like this doctor, must look prosperous to be prosperous. Clean streets, attractive store windows, well-painted buildings and dwellings give the prosperous air. Well-painted buildings are greatest of these.

It is to be hoped that local merchants will not be lured by our town advertising grafters. Our city has been victimized too much in years past by these smooth tongued gents. Remember that when you spend a dollar at home all are benefited.

—and then, when you go to see that other car, and the salesman strolls up with a smile:

—ask him if that car of his has a FULL-floating Rear Axle—a Rear Axle that carries the weight of the car on the axle housing and NOT on the shaft—a Rear Axle that has TWO Timken Bearings in EACH of the hubs and in the differential. That's the kind of axle you get on this Studebaker FOUR. It's the highest development that the Rear Axle has reached. And it compares with the old-style semi-floating and three-quarter floating axles as its beautifully light and strong housing of stamped steel compares with the malleable cast housing of other cars use. So don't let the salesman say: "We have a floating type of axle." ASK him if it's a real FULL-floating axle like the Studebaker. Make him take out the shaft and show you.

—ask him if that car of his uses battery ignition. And if he says "Magneto"—ask him WHY. Most of the high-grade cars, you know, have discarded magnetos, because a magneto current weakens when your motor slows up—and it doesn't give as hot a spark at low speeds as at high speeds. But a Studebaker Battery ignition is reliable at any speed. It insures steady firing—no skipping or missing. Trouble-proof, too. So don't let the salesman dodge on the ignition—ask him WHY. A magneto on an electrically equipped car is as useless as the fifth wheel on a wagon.

—ask him if that car of his drives thro' the springs—or whether it has radius rods and a torque arm. Costs a whole lot less, to be sure, to design a car that drives thro' the springs—but it makes the car HARD riding. But TWO radius rods and torque arm, such as Studebaker uses keeps the driving mechanism in line, and it keeps the springs free for the one thing they are intended for—taking up the jolts and jafs from the roads. That's one of the reasons this Studebaker FOUR is one of the straightest driving, EASIEST-riding cars you ever sat in. Look for radius rods on other cars.

—ask him if that car of his has Brakes that guarantee a SURE stop when you have to stop. You have to stop QUICK sometimes, you know—and hills are steep. And undersized brakes aren't any guarantee of safety at such times. Studebaker uses OVER-size brakes—larger than most cars weighing half a ton more are using. Your car ought to have brakes just as safe. So ask that salesman to show you as much brakes as the Studebaker has. Go over every little detail of those other cars. And ASK the salesman frankly. Get FACTS.

Then see this Studebaker FOUR—and ask US just as frankly

We are more than willing to have your choice of a car rest on the facts you get. For nearly 150,000 men have done just that thing and they now own Studebakers! And the chances are that when YOU get the facts, and see what a handsome car this FOUR is and have opportunity to ride in, and drive it yourself, you'll decide that it's needless to pay more than $985—and decidedly unwise to pay less.

Portsmouth, N. H., Friday, April 30, 1915.

The Day of Big Things.

A prominent publication bemoans the fact that small industries in this country are practically a thing of the past and attributes the change in large measure to regulative and restrictive legislation. The paper points out that the little mills that used to dot the eastern states are practically all gone and that manufacturing now is done almost entirely by large concerns.

That this is true everybody knows, but it is to be doubted that legislation is to any great extent responsible for the change. It is true that laws, regulations and inspectors have vastly multiplied in recent years and are still increasing fast, and that in some instances they work actual hardships and injustice to manufacturers, but these conditions affect the large manufacturer as well as the small, and therefore they hardly afford an explanation of the drift from small industries to operations on a large scale.

The publication in question deplores the fact that it is now next to impossible to go into business on a small scale and succeed, especially in the manufacturing line, but something besides legislation is responsible for this. The drift of the age is toward operations on a larger and larger scale. So great is the pressure in this direction that many of the large concerns are not willing to stand alone, but proceed to combine until a point is reached in which only millions count. The small industry with a small capital and a small number of employees is out of the running, having been absorbed by the big establishments or crushed by competition. To talk about restoring those small industries by legislation, the lack of regulative legislation or by any other means is idle. This is an age of big things and "millions," and whether this is a good thing or a bad thing, there is no escape.

That laws for the regulation of industries are very numerous and in some cases oppressive is true, and the people, who are responsible for the laws, have to bear the burden, as they should. When a law is enacted that increases the cost of any product the burden does not fall upon the manufacturer, but on the consumer. Between legislation and the labor unions the cost of production has increased greatly along many lines in recent years, and this accounts to a large extent for the complained of increased cost of living.

But, for better or for worse, the day of the small manufacturing concern in this country has gone by. Where a remnant may be found it is rapidly giving way to the domination of "millions," and there is no prospect of a change, even if a change were desirable.

The Boston and Albany railroad has set a good example by instructing its employees to report all grass and brush fires along the line, and where these are of sufficient consequence the company sends gangs of men to assist the residents in fighting the fires. It is an example that other railroads might well follow at times when there is such liability to forest fires as there is now.

The Germans are great discoverers, and one of their latest alleged discoveries is that ivy benefits the walls of brick and stone buildings by extracting superfluous moisture. Many buildings are beautified by ivy, but the common impression in this country is that there is apt to be more superfluous moisture where it luxuriates than in walls exposed to the sun.

There is a movement in New York to set Rockaway Beach and other beach settlements off as a city, whereupon Mayor Mitchell rises to remark that if this is to be done the new city must assume its fair share of the New York city debt. And it will take a good deal of figuring to show why this is not a legitimate demand.

A party of Chinese business men are soon coming to this country at the expense of their government to study American business methods, and they are coming to a good school. There are some things lacking in the United States, but the knowledge of how to do business is not one of them.

It is announced that the congress of women to be held at The Hague will protest not only against the present war, but all war. Meanwhile there are men who consider themselves good and far-seeing who are attempting to point out the good that will come from the war now in progress.

A returned missionary states in a public address that rum is the great curse of Africa. And all know that the great bulk of it is sent from this "Christian" country, which finds great consolation in the theory that trade follows not only the flag, but the missionaries.

What President Wilson had to say in New York the other day on the subject of neutrality strikes sensible men as about right.

The booming condition of the New York stock market shows a decided return of confidence in some directions at least.

At Seventy-four Years Woman Is Elected Mayor In Illinois.

Mrs. A. R. Canfield, seventy-four years old, was elected mayor of Warren, Ill., defeating her opponent by four votes. Mrs. Canfield is the first woman in Illinois to have been made chief executive of a municipality. Warren's population is about 1,500. When told of her election she sent out this message of greeting to her friends: "I rejoice that women are coming into their own and shall do all in my power for Warren's good and prove that municipal affairs are better managed, as are homes, by the co-operation of men and women."

AID ASKED IN SEARCH FOR JAIL BREAKER

Dover Sheriff Notified Police of Escape of "Trusty" on Wednesday.

Late Thursday Albert F. Moore, formerly of Worcester, Mass., who escaped Wednesday from the Stratford county jail, where he was serving a year's sentence for breaking and entering, had not been captured.

Moore was a trusty and was enjoying a walk outside the cell room when he forced a cellar, bullhead door and scaled the high wall of the jail yard. Moore's absence was discovered an hour later.

Sheriff Young has notified the police of many New England cities and towns to be on the watch for him. Moore is about 36 years old, 5 feet, 9 1/2 inches tall, weighs about 175 pounds, has brown hair, blue eyes and brown mustache.

CHURCH NOTES

The Golden Rule Circle of King's Daughters of the Middle Street Baptist church held their regular meeting in the Baptist chapel on Monday afternoon, and the usual routine business was transacted. A nominating committee was chosen to select officers for the coming year. An invitation was accepted from the Massachusetts Circle of King's Daughters of the North church to attend an informal reception on Tuesday afternoon, May 11. The Daughters of King's Daughters of the Congregational church at New Castle has also been invited to attend. Following the business session a social time was enjoyed and light refreshments served.

The farewell reception tendered Rev. D. P. Moulton and Mrs. Moulton by the Pearl Street Free Baptist church parish was a very enjoyable affair. There was a large attendance including many members of the Middle Street Baptist church.

The Y. P. S. C. E. held their regular meeting in the vestry of the Middle Street Baptist church on Tuesday evening. At 8.30 the teachers' training class was held in charge of Mrs. Amos O. Benfield.

On Wednesday afternoon the pastor's instruction class was held by Rev. William P. Stanley. This class includes boys and girls and is a very interesting organization of the church.

The Junior Christian Endeavor will meet at four o'clock Friday afternoon at the Court Street church vestry. Miss Ruth Coleman is in charge.

On Tuesday afternoon at 4.20 the pastor's class of probationers met at the Methodist church.

On Tuesday evening at 7.30 the pastor's special class met at the Methodist church.

The Girls' Guild of the Middle Street Baptist church will entertain the Young Men's Guild at a meeting after the service.

There will be Holy Eucharist services at 7.30 on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday mornings at Christ church, and there will also be a service at the same hour on Saturday morning.

The Boston Globe suggests that we ask Portland if they have any breweries up there. We don't care one way or the other, we have some here that are pretty good.

TWO EXAMPLES

A manufacturer of a certain specialty used more newspaper advertising than usual in 1914. Notwithstanding foreign losses his business increased to such an extent that it paid the greatest dividends in its history.

The manufacturer of a well known household article curtailed on advertising in 1914. This saving policy worked so well that dividends suffered materially.

There is no antidote for hard times that compares in results with determined and aggressive newspaper advertising.

ATTENTION! BOSTON GLOBE, AND BIDDEFORD JOURNAL

Portland, bidding for the Peace Conference to bring an end to the European war, might lay stress on the argument that she hasn't nearly so many mosquitoes as there are at Portsmouth. —Boston Globe.

Then what's to prevent Portsmouth from getting back by reminding Portland that she has no navy yard? If this twitting on facts once begins, nobody can venture to say where it will stop. —Biddeford Journal.

The Globe paragrapher and the Biddeford Journal man are evidently determined to start a war between Portland and Portsmouth over where the European Peace Conference is to be held. And after the "war" is started they both would probably claim that they were neutral.

Is there any necessity of reminding Portland that she has no navy yard? Portland probably knows that and no doubt knows that Portsmouth has one, and a good one, too. But have you ever seen Portland harbor? Portland harbor is without doubt one of the prettiest on the Atlantic coast and it is also a beautiful harbor as regards navigation. Portland and Portsmouth are each fortunate in that line and mariners the world over will agree to that. While on the subject, what can be said about Boston and Biddeford harbors? We give it up because we have been taught that if it is impossible to say anything good about a thing, we should keep still.

In 1905 there was a Peace Conference held in Portsmouth that was so satisfactory to the warring nations that at the present time one of them is having a hard time to keep out of this war on the ally of its former enemy. Some peace—what?

About that charge of mosquitoes in Portsmouth during 1905. That can be explained easily. Portsmouth and Portland were at the time making a war on the pests. The original Portsmouth mosquitoes had all departed and those in the city at the time were some that had been driven out of Portland and were enroute from there for Suffolk county, where they and their children, unto the third, and fourth generations are now holding forth. A little evening fishing trip in the "Pool" might show where the Portsmouth tribe are now and from personal experience the pests that inhabit Chelsea, Revere, Winthrop, Marine Park, Lovell's Island and the Fenway are as big as men and as fierce as tigers. A letter from Mother the other day said that those which had been working about Belle Isle in let all winter were taking off their red mittens and getting into preparation bathing suits in preparation for the summer campaign.

Portsmouth has had the experience and knows how a Peace Conference should be conducted, but if Portland gets the next one and wants any points—although she probably wouldn't need them, Portsmouth will be tickled to death to assist in any way possible. And we are willing to place a little bet that their Peace Conference will be just as successful as ours was.

Say, you old scouts, you have a fat chance of starting any war between Portland and this town. —Waugh!

PEOPLES' OPINION

OF INTEREST TO KITTERY

Whence Did the Town Name Originate and How Long So Named

To the Editor of The Herald:

Whence did the town of Kittery get its name? How long has the town had this name? How did it come about?

We have been told that the town was named after a town of that name in England, but thus far I have been course my source of information for the present are quite limited.

I find that there is a town of Kettering in Northampton County, about seventy-five miles northwest from London, or about 120 miles north from Portsmouth, England, but so far as I can find, from an examination of the encyclopedias and gazetteers and maps that are available there is but one Kittery in the world.

Will it be possible for some of our local historians to provide some information on this subject, and to give the authorities for such information as there is?

Is there any connection between Kettering in England and Kittery, Maine? In the case of a Mrs. Ann Mason before the General Court in Massachusetts in 1652, regarding lands, there is a recital of "the inhabitants of Ketterie" etc (Stackpole's "Old Kittery and Her Families," page 13.)

The important questions are: Is there a Kittery in England? Did Kittery, Maine, get its name from that English town? What is the evidence? Were the members of the first community at "Kittery Point" from the town of Kittery or Kettering in England?

(Signed) S. Kittery, Maine, April 20.

He Wants Peace

As a reader of your paper I must say I was much pleased in reading a communication headed the "Right Spirit" in your issue of Thursday. I think that the writer hit the nail squarely on the head and incidentally handed out some good advice to the active and veteran firemen of this city. This spirit of revenge should fade and all strenuous "forgive and forget." With this motto over before them they can accomplish a great deal for themselves and for the city. Now let us go ahead

CURRENT OPINION

War Is Absolutely Contrary to the Teachings of the Christian Church.

War is contrary to the teachings of the Christian church. All agree that Christianity was the introduction, the liberation into the world, of a great moral force, which, if permitted freely and fully to work, would affect the moral subjugation and conquest of the world.

It is, in short, a love for human kind and for all human kind, for foe as well as friend; not merely for congenial folk or those who by some local tie or natural affinity are related to us, but a Christianity love which reaches out beyond tribal lines and limits.

The distinctive thing about it is that it is a love not merely for fellow countrymen, but for fellow creatures. It is not merely a national or patriotic love, although, of course, including that and lifting up and exalting that, giving nobler aim and nobler purpose to it, yet something else and more.

It is a supernatural or international love, like that love of God which makes his sun to shine on the evil and the good and his rain to fall on the unjust as the just.

That is why we instinctively feel that the war which is raging in Europe now is not only a war of nations against nations or races against races, but that it is a war against twentieth century, with its great and growing consciousness of the solidarity of human life in all nations, kindreds, tribes and tongues, with its great and growing consciousness that God has made of one blood, one human blood, all nations of men to dwell on the face of the earth.—By Bishop David H. Greer, Episcopal Diocese of New York.

CAMP WAUBEN SCORES HIT AT RYE TOWN HALL

Play Presented By Campfire Girls and Federated Clubs Pleased
Audience Thursday Evening.

The play "Camp Wauben", presented by the members of the Glitche-Gumco Campfire and the Federated Clubs of Rye, delighted an audience that completely filled the Rye Town Hall on Thursday evening. The play was the work of Mrs. Forrest C. Varrell, one of the club members, and the plot dealt with a fanciful incident in the woods where girls had been camping. The scene was laid on the Parsons estate at Rye. The story brings in fairies mixed up with girls of adventurous spirits. The audience was taken back to the woods at the time long before white men set foot on this continent and were carried along later to when the colonists were here.

The cast was as follows:
Glitche-Gumco Camp Fire Girls—Ruth Varrell, Anlesca Foss, Frances Remick, Edith Venton, Edna Garland, Stella Millette, Myrtle Caswell, Hazel Berry, Louise Rand, Jean Fraser, Evelyn Brown.

Misses Ruth Varrell and Frances Remick took the part of the girls who saw the vision, and Mrs. Alice Chandler as the country boy with the goat received much applause for their excellent work.

The following was the committee in charge: Author of the play, Mrs. Forrest C. Varrell; general managers, Mrs. Chester Drake and Miss Hulda Salter; stage manager, Mrs. Mary Sawyer; dancing, Miss Alice Squire; music, Misses Frances Squire and Arbellia Marston; stage electrician, Mr. Raymond Philbrick.

The managers deserve much credit for their skill in adjusting so large a cast on so small a scale.

The local Boy Scouts acted as ushers. The clubs are greatly indebted to Scoutmaster Abbott Drake, to whose indefatigable work much of the success of the production is due.

Dancing was enjoyed until midnight. Refreshments of ice and cake were served by Caterer Nichols.

WERE HELD IN $1,000 BAIL

Portland Youths Arrested Here
Plead Guilty to Two Charges.

Pleading guilty to the charge of breaking and entering in the night time and larceny on two counts, Lester Jacobsky and Joseph Lucowska, two Portland youths were on Thursday held for the Maine grand jury in $1,000 each upon being arraigned before Judge Bates in the Municipal court at Portland.

Jacobsky and Lucowska plead guilty to breaking into the stores of J. Rozinski and Thomas Ginsberg and the larceny of goods and money therefrom.

The two were arrested Tuesday night in this city after they had alighted from a Portland train. Upon searching the men the Portland officers found a large quantity of tobacco, cigars, cigarettes and three revolvers and the two were held at the request of the Portland officers.

SCORES THE FIRE DEPARTMENT

The Manchester Leader, speaking on the probe of the Manchester Fire Department, which is now in the hands of the mayor and aldermen has the following comment on the department:

It is a political department. It is run for the benefit of the party in power and positions on the force are not assigned for the reason of efficiency.

Fire fighters are elected without any examination as to their qualifications. There is no regular system of drill or exercise to keep firemen in good physical condition.

There is no regular training to get firemen accustomed to the use of the apparatus.

There are not enough permanent men and too many call men.

Call men are not assigned to duty at stations nearest their residences in some cases.

There is no age limit for firemen.

There are too many men who by age or infirmity are unable to perform their duties, often strenuous.

The present chief, 74 years of age, ought to be pensioned and retired, and a younger man placed in command.

The absurd and purely political Board of Fire Engineers should be abolished and authority vested in a single chief.

Outside these few little things the department is O. K.

OBSEQUIES.

LATEST IN FISH AND GAME LAWS

A Synopsis of What New Hampshire Sportsmen Can and Can Not Legally Do

The fish and game bill took up more time and provoked more discussion perhaps than any other measure that came before the legislature. It was a document of 61 pages long, prepared by Judge Charles A. Perkins of Manchester and was introduced by Rep. Augustus Wagner. Judge Perkins devoted a great deal of careful and intelligent attention to the codifying of the old fish and game laws, preparing them in a concise and convenient form, making a much simpler arrangement than had ever been brought about before. After the bill passed the house and reached the senate, many important changes were made, so that today the public is very unfamiliar with what the laws call for.

The Chronicle has had numerous requests since the adjournment of the legislature for information as to the present status of the fish and game laws, and we are herewith outlining some of the most important features. Manner of Taking Fish and Game. Game shall be taken in the day time after sunrise and before sunset with a gun fired at arm's length unless otherwise specifically permitted. Fish shall be taken only by angling unless otherwise specifically permitted. In case a fish is unintentionally taken contrary to the prohibitions or restrictions, such fish shall be immediately liberated and returned to such water without unnecessary injury.

Transportation of Fish and Game. A person, if accompanying the same, may transport within the state in one day, during the open season therefor, the number of limit of wild game or fish that he may lawfully take in one day.

If such game or fish be carried in the custody of a common carrier or transported in a package, the said game or fish or package containing the same shall have affixed thereto a tag plainly marked with the kind and number of such game or fish, the names of the consignor and the consignee, the initial point of billing and the destination.

Wild game or fish protected by law taken by a non-resident may be transported by him from a point within the state to a point out of the state, provided the same shall be accompanied by the actual owner thereof. In the case of wild game the said owner shall have first procured from the commission a license so to do. Such wild game or fish must be tagged and marked as provided in this section, and no more of any kind of such wild game or fish shall be transported than the owner, therefor, may lawfully take in one day. Game, except grouse, imposed from without the United States or raised in private reserves, when duly marked and tagged, may be transported out of the state unaccompanied by the owner thereof in any number or quantity.

Possession of quadrupeds, birds or fish of any part thereof, during the time when the taking of the same in this state is prohibited, or when the possession of the same after the close of the open seasons for the taking thereof is permitted, shall be presumptive evidence that the same was unlawfully taken by the possessor.

A person who suffers loss or damage to annual crops or fruit trees by game birds and game quadrupeds protected by law may, within five days after such damage occurs, notify in writing the commission, who shall investigate the case and determine whether such loss or damage was caused by such birds or quadrupeds. In it so determines, it shall cause said loss or damage to be appraised by the board of selectmen of the town in which such property is located. The board of selectmen shall return to the commission a certificate under oath of the amount of such loss or damage. Said certificate shall be returned to the state treasurer by said commission, and the governor is authorized to draw his warrant upon the fish and game fund for the amount of the appraisal or such part thereof as he may deem reasonable.

A person may pursue, wound or kill on land owned or occupied by him a deer which he can prove was in the act of doing actual and substantial damage or injury to a crop or fruit trees, and he may authorize a member of his family, or a person employed by him so to pursue, wound or kill a deer under the circumstances above specified. The person by whom or under whose direction a deer is so wound or killed shall within six hours report all facts relative to such wounding or killing in writing signed by him to the nearest fish and game warden in the county or town in which the deer was so wounded or killed. Such report shall state the time and amount of wounding or killing and the place of injury destroyed by the deer.

Injury to Fences and Crops. No person shall tear down or destroy any fence or wall or leave open any gate or bars or trample or destroy any crop on land of another person while taking, trapping, hunting or pursuing any wild animals, wild bird or fish.

Moose, Caribou and Elk. No person shall at any time take a moose, caribou or elk, or have in his possession the carcass of a moose, caribou or elk, or any part thereof taken in this state.

Wild Deer. Wild deer may be captured or taken from Oct. 15 to Dec. 16 in the county of Coos; in the counties of Grafton and Carroll from the first day of November to the 16th day of December; in the counties of Sullivan, Cheshire, Hillsborough, Belknap, Merrimack, Rockingham and Strafford from the first day of December to the 16th day of December; after five a. m. and before six p. m.

A person may take one such wild deer in the counties of Rockingham, Strafford, Belknap, Merrimack, Hillsborough, Cheshire and Sullivan or two such deer in the counties of Coos, Carroll and Grafton, but not more than two such deer shall be taken within the confines of the state. The provisions of this section shall not apply to deer on private game preserves.

Wild deer shall not be taken with the aid of or by the use of a dog, jack, artificial light, trap, or salt lick; nor shall wild deer be taken by the use of any firearm other than a shotgun loaded with a single ball or loose buckshot within the county of Hillsborough, except within the towns of Windsor and Hillsborough, nor within the counties of Rockingham, Belknap and that part of Merrimack county not included within the towns of Andover, Wilton, Danbury, Hill, New London, Sutton, Bradford, Warner, Salisbury and Newbury.

Such deer may be bought and sold for consumption as food within the state and possessed during the open season and for a reasonable time thereafter.

Use of Dogs Illegal. Dogs of the breed commonly used for hunting deer, or dogs that will hunt or pursue deer or sheep, shall not be permitted by the owner or keeper thereof to run at large unaccompanied by their owner, and if such dog be found hunting, pursuing or killing deer or sheep it shall be prima facie evidence that such dog was permitted to run at large in violation of the provisions of this section. No person shall harbor or have in his possession a dog used for the purpose of hunting deer.

Hares and Rabbits. Hares and rabbits may be taken and possessed from October 1 to March 1. The owner of lands, his tenant or employee, may take at any time and in any number hares and rabbits which are found doing actual and substantial damage to his annual crops and fruit trees.

A person may take in one day not more than five hares or rabbits. Hares and rabbits may be bought and sold during the open season therefor.

There shall be no open season on gray squirrels within the thickly settled part of any village or city or within the limits of any public park or cemetery.

Traps and Snare. No person shall set or arrange any trap or snare upon any land of which he is not the owner or legal occupant, and all metal traps shall have stamped or engraved thereon in a legible and permanent manner the name of the person setting them. A person shall visit his traps at least once in every 24 hours.

The furs or skins of fur-bearing animals legally taken may be bought and sold at any time.

Bounty on Wildcats. The selectmen of any town, upon the presentation to them of the head of any wildcat killed in New Hampshire, shall pay to the person presenting the same the sum of $2.

Quail. Quail may be taken and possessed from Oct. 1 to Dec. 1. A person may take not more than five quail in one day.

COURT OFFICERS ARE NOT PAID

Change From County to Municipal System Brings Difficulties in Nashua.

Nashua, N. H., April 29—Judge B. D. Clancy and Clerk Martin W. Fitzpatrick of the local court are not receiving their salaries and are uncertain when and how they will get them. Acting on the advice of the county solicitor, the county treasurer has written Clerk Fitzpatrick that he can no longer receive the fines and costs collected by the court nor make any payments of its expenses. On the other hand, the city of Nashua for the benefit of which the court is conducted has made no appropriation for the court.

County Solicitor John R. Springs said today, "We do not question the validity of the Nashua court. Under the law by which the district court system was supplanted by municipal courts, the judges and clerks of the district courts were continued until the governor appointed new ones. It is by this provision that the present judge and clerk are acting."

"We contend, however, that it was the intent of the legislature that the cities should pay the expenses and take the receipts of such courts the same as in cases where new officials were agreed upon by the appointing power; for it would be obviously unfair for the county to pay for the Nashua court and not for that of Manchester and other places in the county. Judge Clancy can file his claim for pay with the county and have it passed upon by the superior court or he can file a claim with the city finance committee, and if the aldermen consent to assume the charge, upon advice of the city solicitor, that would settle the matter."

Major Chamcey B. Hoyt is wearing a smile at the present time.

A TRIP THROUGH GERMANY

(By Count Mourik de Beaufort, Correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph and International News Service.)

The writer who is well known in America was erroneously reported killed in France several weeks ago. He has just spent some time in Germany and gives the following account of some of his impressions. A second article will appear at a later date.

"It does not take long after arriving in Germany to find out that the absurd stories circulating in England and France as to the real conditions in Germany are just about as ridiculous as the tales the German public is fed with as to the real state of affairs in the enemy's countries."

I have spent the last three months in various parts of Germany. At no time have I seen the very ions sign of an approaching famine. I have eaten there just as well and as cheaply as here in England."

At the Hotel Adlon or the Bristol in Berlin you may get an excellent lunch for 3-4 marks (75 cents) as good as you can get anywhere. At Allenstein in East Prussia—hardly the loss of a biscuit from the firing line—I have enjoyed for sixty cents a well cooked plentiful dinner. The institution of the bread ticket was mainly designed to stop the wastage of bread, and it has fully answered its purpose."

Each person receives a ticket giving him the right to buy 250 grams of bread a day. I found it more than I needed. The taste of the bread differed a great deal in various places. In some places where I was supposed to contain 30 per cent of potato flour, it tasted as if it had 99 per cent; again, elsewhere, notably in Munich and all over Bavaria and in East Prussia I found the bread very tasty."

I have been assured on every side that they will manage until next harvest, which from all signs is going to be a very successful one. Then they will prepare for the next, and there will not be many square feet of land in Germany left uncultivated."

If the Allies depend on success for starving out Germany, I fear it will long, long way to victory. I do not think it can be done."

Then the Germans are supposed to be in difficulties owing to the shortage of men. Well then, I was in Munich on the Kaiser's birthday, Jan. 25, 25,000 troops took part in the parade, and from what I have been able to learn from various sources, it was the same in other cities."

Berlin today contains more soldiers than in peace time. They may not be as smart; they may not do the "Parade-march" as scientifically as before, but the raw material is good. I have seen very few soldiers more than about 35 years of age. Moreover there are a good many men between 20 and 40 who though registered have not been called, and at the present rate of enlistment the supply will last a great many months."

It is unwise to trust the third supposed cause of Germany's fall—viz., the discontent of the people, when they know the real state of affairs. I have talked to hundreds of people representing all classes, from the highest to the lowest, and I have come to the conclusion that there is today in Germany not one man in a thousand who is not absolutely convinced that Germany was forced into this war."

They say that other countries—notably England were jealous of Germany's progress, and that she is fighting for honor and home. With the exception of the diplomats, the German has absolute confidence in his officials and superiors."

"Respect for authority," an American girl in Munich, who has married a Bavarian officer, said to me, "is making this country stronger than any other militarist. Ask any of them—they don't want to do without their service in the army. Every man will tell you he came out of the service a better man than he went in. Yes, the authorities think for the individual, but they think it for his best."

It will never occur to a German that he may be wrong, that his loyalty, his life, and the lives of his dear ones are being sacrificed to a wrong cause. Nothing, not all the exposures, defeats and hardships in the world, will make him change his mind. From the cradle, where his mother sang him to sleep with lullabies telling of great battles, and of the heroes death on the field of honor, the German becomes imbued with the spirit that places personal considerations second to those of the Kaiser and Fatherland."

I had a long talk one day with Herr Sassenbach, secretary of the trade unionists' headquarters in Berlin, an organization which has sent over 800,000 men into the field. Herr Sassenbach is the Social Democratic Alderman of City Council of Greater Berlin. During the course of the conversation, at which Professor Franke, head of the Bureau for Social Politics, was present, I suggested that it might after all be a blessing in disguise for the German laborer if Germany were to be beaten and thereby be relieved of the yoke of militarism."

I was venturing on dangerous ground. Sassenbach started to answer, but the professor cut him short, (telling him under his breath, "Let me answer him!")

Quite excited and evidently annoyed, he exclaimed: "Sir, if you want to make yourself thoroughly unpopular here and your mission to be an entire failure; if you want to make people shut up like a clam, then ask such questions or make such suggestions! In the first place, we are not going to lose this war, but if we did it would go ill with the German laborer, because he would be taxed much heavier than he is now to pay for the war indemnity; and secondly, our jealous enemies would place such restrictions on our trade that it would be impossible for us to compete."

I asked Sassenbach point blank, why in that case, his party had been opposing the increase of armaments. His answer was typical. "We all realize now," he said, "that we were mistaken. The working man does not as yet rule the world—this war is proving that. We still stand in friendly relationship to the working men of Great Britain and France. Only a few days ago I received a communication from Mr. —, and we frequently hear from the French head-quarters. All the same, what would have become of us if we had not had our army? If we had not been prepared as we are?"

I thought that in such case Germany would perhaps have shown a different and more conciliatory attitude towards various proposals made by other countries; that her policy would perhaps have been less aggressive and overbearing and consequently that the war might have been avoided. But he would have none of it.

"No, No," he emphatically denied. "Germany's spirit was conciliatory to the end. Read the last telegram our Kaiser sent to the Tsar. We were forced to fight. England has been wanting to get at us for a long time. If Russia had not been sure of France and England, do you think she could have found one idiot in St. Petersburg who would have started this war with us?"

"Russia knew our strength and her own as well. No; this war has been a willful attack on a peace-loving, industrious nation. I know the spirit and the feelings of my men. I am one of them, and that is why we have risen to a man, and we will stand together, low by high and high by low, and see this through."

Sassenbach was, not so many years ago, a humble working man, while today he occupies a very responsible position. He speaks French and English—which he has taught himself—fluently, and, as Professor Franke and the Mayor of Berlin told me, he enjoys the confidence of many important men, though of entirely opposite political faith. So, when a man of his type feels and speaks in that manner, prompted, I am sure, by deep-rooted, honest convictions, you may imagine how strong the feelings must be among the lesser elements."

There seemed to be no opposition to the candidacy of R. B. Ross for Secretary of the Railway Mail Association.

ARREST BOLSTER FOR MURDER OF JOHN TIMONEY

Houlton, Me., April 29—Harry Bolster of Eastern charged with the murder of John Timoney of Andover, Mass., at Eastern last October, was arrested on a charge and arrested on a charge of murder at Houlton today. Bolster was on his way out of the state.

The authorities were advised that he left Eastern this morning and several deputies left the train but could not locate him. A railroad detective made the arrest. He will be brought to Houlton. Bolster is 23 years old and the son of C. K. Bolster, a prominent farmer at Eastern.

Timoney was killed and robbed of $77, his wages as a potato harvester on the Bolster farm as he was about to leave town on October 27, at the close of the harvesting season. His body was found in the bushes beside the road leading from Eastern Center to the railroad station. It had been dragged into the bushes after the skull was crushed by a blow. Timoney was last seen alive in the forenoon when he accompanied Harry Bolster from the farm to the railroad station.

The wife of Timoney is living at Andover, Mass.

DAILY CABLE LETTER

Manchester, England, April 28—One of the great attractions in the prison camp at Runcle, near Berlin, says an Englishman who has been allowed to return, is the series of cricket games between the British on one side and the negro captives on the other.

The negroes invariably win, he narrates, and then march back to their barracks four abreast singing "Tipperary" and very highly pleased with themselves.

Petrograd, April 28—A Russian merchant who has just returned from a drive of about 350 miles through the interior says the prohibition of vodka has caused a curious change in the speech of the peasants. Whereas the conversation of the country people was formerly punctuated with highly colored and sometimes astounding "expletives" these strong phrases are now rarely heard. The moult is observing the temperance law in spirit as well as in letter.

Lusanne, Switzerland, April 28—A German doctor is authority for the statement that 250,000 of the Kaiser's soldiers have been killed.

He understands the German losses in dead and wounded in the west were less than those of the French and English in the first six months of the war.

"The only time when it was admitted by our officers that we had greater losses than the enemy was at the battle of the Yser," he said. "We lost far more men in our battles with the Russians than with the French."

Calcutta, April 30—King George's example in abolishing strong drink from his household for the duration of the war has been hailed with enthusiastic delight by Indians of the upper class, whose younger generation was becoming alarmingly addicted to the drink habit.

It is believed a temperance wave is about to sweep India which will be of great moral and material benefit.

A few days ago Chief Boatswain Frederick Muller of Kittery, who has been ordered to command one of the navy tugs at Norfolk started to make part of his trip from this city in his 35-foot motor boat, one of the best skiffs in the motorboat fleet on the river. He intended to make Boston if possible and then ship the boat by rail to Norfolk. His son accompanied him on the trip. When off Newburyport, the batteries went bad and for several hours they tossed around in the sea. The Coast Guard at Newburyport station located them and a boat was sent to their relief. Mr. Muller decided to discontinue the rest of the trip by water and had the boat loaded on the cars at Newburyport.
